

TSH-R-Antibodies: An update

Clinical utility and relevance

Mark A. Lupo, MD

Dr. Lupo is the founder and medical director of the Thyroid & Endocrine Center of Florida located in Sarasota, Florida. He is board-certified in endocrinology and internal medicine. He attended Duke University and then received his medical degree and internal medicine training at the University of Florida. He is also an active member of the American Thyroid Association, Endocrine Society, American Institute of Ultrasound in Medicine and Mensa.

Methodological progress

George J. Kahaly, MD, PhD

Dr. Kahaly is a professor of medicine and endocrinology/metabolism and is chief physician of the endocrine outpatient clinic at the Johannes Gutenberg University (JGU) Medical Center in Mainz, Germany. He directs the accredited and certified academic thyroid laboratory. Dr. Kahaly is the recipient of numerous awards (European Thyroid Association (ETA) 2024, Canadian Endocrine Society 2022, American College of Endocrinology 2019, British Thyroid Association 2019, European Thyroid Journal 2018 and British Medical Association 2018). Dr. Kahaly served as treasurer and principal officer of the ETA executive committee 2007-2016. Since 2000, he has served on numerous American Thyroid Association committees.

Join us for an informative discussion on the newest antibody diagnostic and its clinical application.

Monday, September 9, 2024

7-8 a.m. EST

Athens Conservatoire - New Stage Room

Want to learn more about the impacts of thyroid disease?

Scan the QR code for exclusive access to free EU CME on thyroid disease on MEDtalks.

QuidelOrtho™